This is but the skeleton staff of the DODO. Much deserved credit goes to the many not listed who carry much of our production workload....the typists, the welcome individual contributors, the many '67er's who have yet to have time to prove themselves, and the censors who have yet to have time to disprove themselves. THANKS AND CREDIT TO ALL...DODO '64!

You see, there's this "puff blue" demon lurking from beside the somber grey wall it guards....it sports a lean and hungry look, this demon, and being charitably inclined, I intend to soon sacrifice my consciousness to its calling.

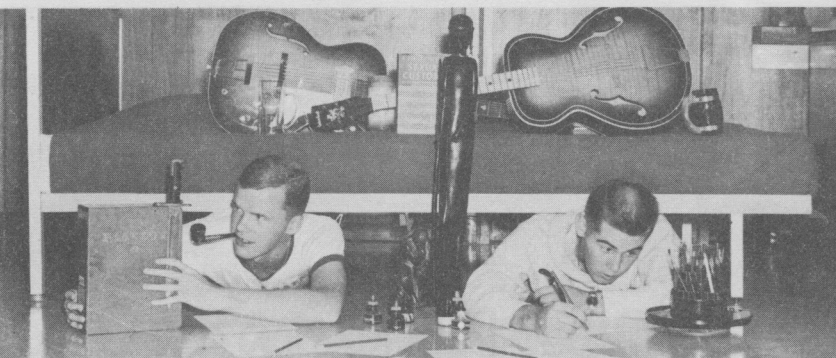

Question is, do I possess the consciousness such selfless sacrifice demands.... a year of my editing DODO has stirred this very question throughout Censor Hollow. But, whether mental soberness is mine or not, I shall join publication editors Mike Ditmore and Dave Connaughton and the astute staff we have scraped from beneath barstools, Larimar Street, Mech turnouts, and a rainbow of friend demon's spongy kinship in once again attempting to broaden the literary offerings of our star-spangled academic overlords.

Weekly supplements to the genius of Chaucer, Newton, Newman, and Heffner often proves more of an unrewarded trial than Reville, drill, or Econ. Last year a core of a dozen men supplied the majority of the work and, as it were, talent for the DODO. Often the creative well of such a small group runs dry....this year we are hoping for some creative refreshment from throughout the Wing, that we might each week feature a winning mag. It's your DODO.....

So I said, "Medium on top, and take a little off the sides...."

"All right, all right, I'll talk. But for God's sake, aim that shotgun somewhere else."

"Colonel, find out who this man's table commandant is."

THE Dodo SPACEMATE

In the midnight of luck that is Friday the thirteenth, the DODO unveils an early dawn through the radiance of Abilene's lovely Donna Dauteuil. At least, it is a warm dawn for those (2500) of us whose sunshine is blotted out by Astro quizzes, inspection prospects, 6 acres of night-reflecting glass, and drill ---- but for Spacemate Donna there is neither luck nor warmth in this "13th", as for her it spells her "lakelore" summer's melting into her freshman year at Texas Tech....plus books. But again luck smiles, this time possessed by the Red Raiders as they welcome the 5'4", 19 year old beauty into their fold. Donna's picture, in color, can be seen in the 19th Squadron room of a lucky Gerry Cockrell.

THE DODD SPORTS SCOPE

HOLOVIAK

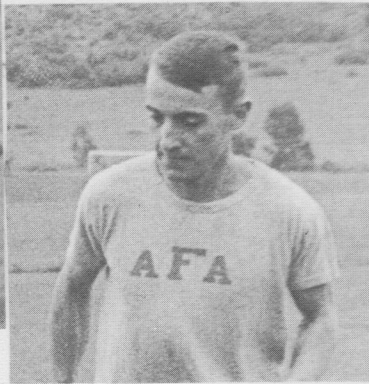

With the return of academics comes the more favorable return of fall sports. One fall sport that should be a favorite by virtue of its past success and promise of another good year is soccer. Capt. Bob Strickland, coach of the cadet kickers, brought his charges through a 7-3 season to a co-championship of the Rocky Mountain Intercollegiate Soccer League in '62, and the squad looks even better this year. Co-captains Jim Renschen and Don Hiede bring

2 years of top-notch varsity experience into play this year at inside and center half respectively. Hiede will probably be flanked by firsties Ray Longo and Bill Hoilman at the other half-back positions with Steve Muller ready to fill in. In addition to Jim Renschen, Al Ross, Jim Thames and Jim Perry are expected to provide impressive performances in the front line. Ross carries 2 years of 1st string varsity play into his center forward spot, Perry 1 year of varsity experience into a wing berth, and Thames, at inside, is the single Soph to crack the starting line-up. Another Soph, David Mossbrook has the potential to rank with Renschen and co. in the front line. Junior Dan Holoviak is being counted on to continue as one of the top goalies in the area. The remaining starting slots should go to two other talented juniors, John Gritsavage and Harry Rodman at the fullback spots and senior Jim McComsey at a wing. Despite an anticipated improvement in the team's overall strength, improvement upon last year's record, while possible, will be hard to achieve because of an exceptionally tough schedule. The Falcons are slated to meet the 59-60-62 national champions, St. Louis University, in the season opener on 21 September. Also on the schedule are two regional champs, Army and Navy, the latter Southern Independents champions. Coach Strickland expects this season's new style of play to surprise followers of the team. Some changes in both the offense and defense have been made to take advantage of some of the individual talents on this year's roster. The first opportunity to see these changes and this season's lineup will be this Saturday, 14 Sep, in an inter-squad scrimmage. There are also 3 home games on this year's schedule providing ample opportunity to see and support a talented and exciting team. Coach Strickland credited the big turnout and spirit at last year's Saturday game with Denver University as a big help in the Falcon's topside position at the final gun, and hopes for the same type of support at this year's games. There appears to be no cause for apprehension on the coach's behalf considering the championship quality of soccer available to the Wing, and opportunity to help make another championship.

And then there was the Indian who drank 38 glasses of iced tea one night and the next day they found him dead in his teepee.

Dots & Doodles

A beautiful girl was one of the two candidates for the job at the zoo as a lion tamer. The other was a definite Clyde Beatty type. The manager said he would give them both a chance and told the girl to go into the cage. Wearing a big fur coat, the lady did so. The huge lion immediately jumped off his stool and charged at her. Suddenly she whipped off her fur coat and stood there, completely nude. The lion stopped dead, spun around, and returned meekly to the stool.

Amazed, the manager turned to the Clyde Beatty type.

"Well, do you think you can top that?"

Came the reply: "I'd like to try. Just get that crazy lion out of there."

Maggie: Boy, you really have to hand it to Dave when it comes to petting.

Kathy: Is he that lazy?

FBI man: He got away. Did you guard the exits?

Local Cop: Yeh, he must have gone out one of those entrances.

To get six elephants in a VW? Simple ... three in the front seat and three in the back seat.

An Englishman was conversing with the clerk in the Mark Hopkins Hotel.

"Here's a riddle," said the clerk. "My mother gave birth to a child. It was neither my brother nor my sister. Who was it?"

Englishman: "I can't guess."

Clerk: "It was I."

Englishman: "Ha! Ha! How clever. I must remember that one!"

Back in Britain, he told the story at his club: "Here's a riddle, old top. My mother gave birth to a child, and it was neither my brother nor my sister. Who was it? Do you give up?"

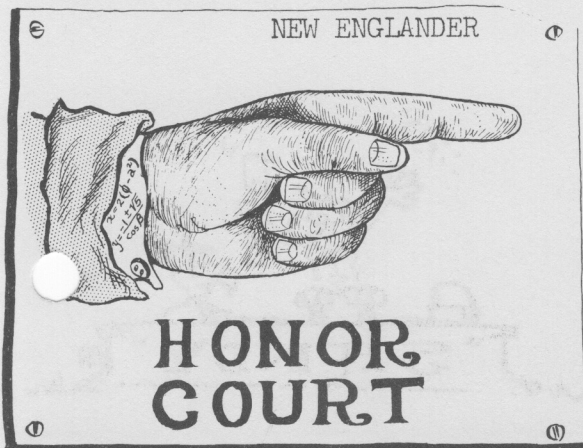

"Yes."

"Ha! Ha! It was the clerk back at the Mark Hopkins Hotel!"

In recent years several families of Philadelphia Jews have been attracted to Quakerism. A man asked a rabbi whether he realized that a number of his people were exiting the Jewish faith in favor of Quakerism.

"Oh, yes," replied the rabbi, "some of my best Jews are Friends."
