NUMBER 4

Well, it looks like I didn't win; Slick Willie resides in the Oval Office for the duration. Let's make the best of it, though. With what other administration would I have the opportunity to have my diploma handed to me by SecDef Pat Schroeder? And let's not go making those comments I've been hearing, "Gee, a Glock would fit just perfectly inside my parade dress," and "We're the only ones who don't go through the metal detectors," for instance. Never, ever, let them hear you mention that you would really like to impress Jodie Foster (Treasury Department officials have already talked to me about this editorial).

The more I drive, the more I think about radar detectors. You know, if the police really wanted to make those things useless, all they would have to do is set up radar transmitters everywhere. Why didn't anyone else think of that?

Oh, congratulations to the Team; way to tromp all over Army. I appreciate the pass, too. And '96, you have just blown me away with the overwhelming spirit you've shown this year. No, really.

With all the talk about gays coming into the military, I really think we should stop complaining and look at the good deals that will come out of this. First, they'll have to let guys and girls room together, because that's the same as straights and gays living together. Plus, the showers will all become coed. 537-6 will be modified to meet the appropriate standards. And we can now have White Male Straight Reactance on questionnaires.

Now that Training here at the Aluminum Womb will be re-examined for its validity in the Real Air Force, I think we should make the Dodo's stance on the issue plain. We all agree with CW: the freshmen are Our People, and we have to take care of Our People. The second and third-classmen are not Our People; they should not be served meals before the Firsties. Smacks need plenty of rest and "Down Time" because they will not be able to perform academically if the stress becomes too high (just like in wartime, when we'll all get plenty of rest and never, ever be on missions exceeding 18 hours, like Desert Storm). And obviously we will treat our four degrees like enlisted personnel, so we now will draw the class of 1997 from the enlisted ranks.

Sounds good, don't it? Send it to the GAO, it might fly.

Personally, I'm eagerly awaiting the February deadline when I find out what AFSC Personnel Ram-Gened for me. I am truly sick of hearing instructors making brilliant statements like "At least you'll have a job at graduation." Heh. Listen, sir, if I could brown-nose, suck-up, and pencil-whip, enough administrators, politicians, and paperwork to get into the Management in the Rockies Institute, I sure as hell could get some high-paying, low-output, geekoid career in any civilian company I felt like. Any cadet could. We are the Digitek Generation; we know how to fill the requisite squares to get where we want to go. Actually, I thought Where I Wanted to Go was a cockpit, but I guess it was really an SP shack.

Opening Thanksgiving Weekend: The Cadet Malcolm X Letter. A touching film about a man who changes the Wing through dissent, leadership, and a few Molotov cocktails. Soundtrack by Icy Terrazzo. A Spike Lee joint. (2)

Everyone have a good break. Remember, don't eat too much turkey; we'll be having a PFT the day after we get back, and the AFT that night.

LETTERS TO THE DODO (AGAIN)

Yes, these are all real comments made to the Dodo, and the letters are all the actual words (and spellings). Seriously. No kidding, really.

Dear Cadet Malisow

I greatly enjoyed the September Issue of the Dodo. Clearly, the back cover was of special interest to me. Pedagogically speaking, my neck and I enjoyed it immensely. Keep up the good work.

Sincerely,
Rubes

Rubes-

Uh, you're welcome, sir. I didn't really think you read this too often. I'm glad you like it so much. Can we talk about my Thermo grade sometime?

-SLOW

Then there's the phone call from those '92 Grads at the OSI school in Washington, D.C. They wanted to point out that it was '91 who booed General Redden and not them. Look, kids, we don't need any more people editing and censoring this mag than we have already. Trust me, we've got colonels who do that. But it was nice to hear that '93 might actually have 30 OSI slots to fight for (oh yeah, my GPA will put at the top of THAT list). But good luck, keep reading the Dodo, and no, you don't get a free subscription.

-SLOW

Dear Mr. Hanson:

Pluralizing the names of the numbered forms the Academy uses as "forms 10" isn't necessarily correct. But unfortunately, "form 10s" isn't necessarily correct either.

Probably the best way to handle the problem- find a way to avoid it altogether when possible.

We're sorry not to be of much help in ridding the world of your only pet peeve, but we thank you for writing. Now that you've brought the issue to our attention, we'll be watching more closely for it in our reading, and perhaps some future edition of our Style Manual will be able to address the matter more completely.

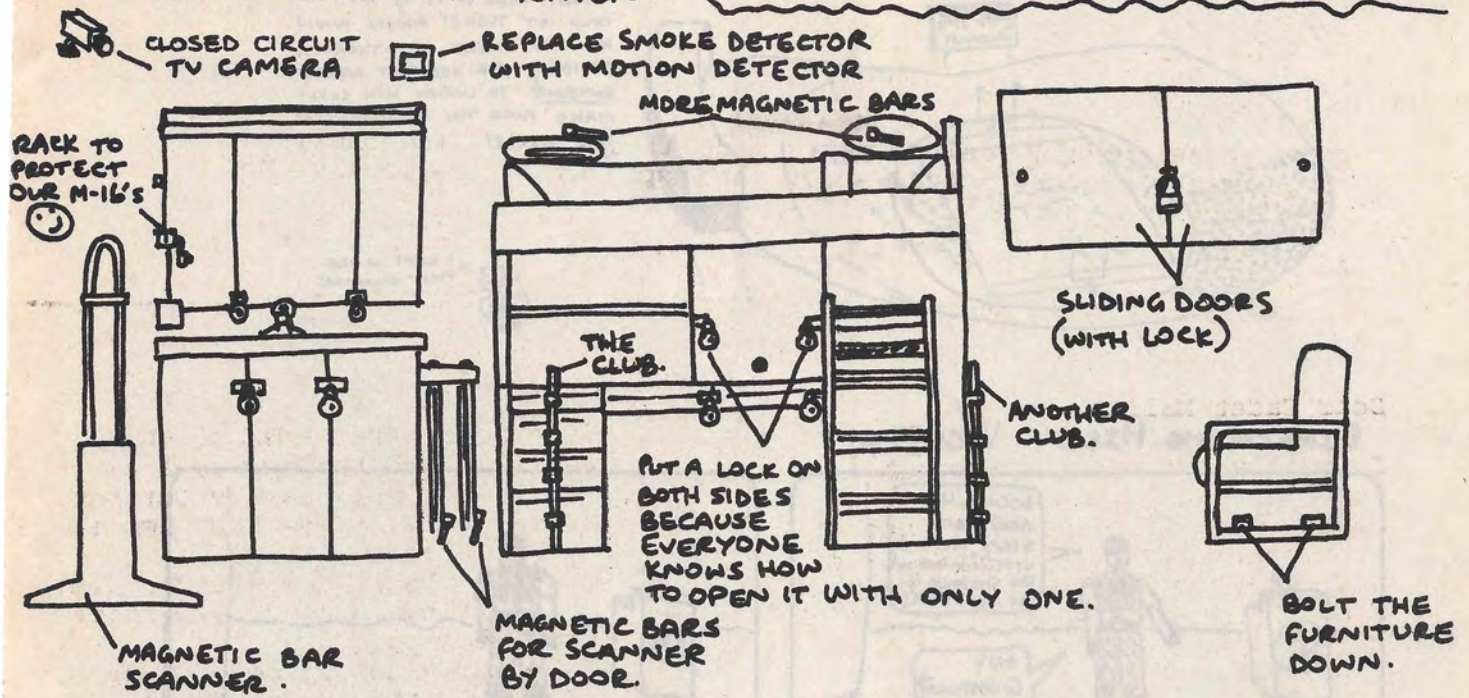

Sincerely,
Amy Harris

So I thought, "I know how to solve this conflict once and for all."

SNAPPY ANSWERS TO STUPID TEAM QUESTIONS

TEAM: "Don't we deserve special privileges for all our hard work?"
SLOW: "Golly, and I thought playing was a privilege!"

T: "How come so many ball players are war heroes?"
S: "How come so many are Cheating Scandals?"

T: "Who would you rather have fighting with you, a ball player or a Dodo Staffer?"
S: "I don't know- are we going to have to do any pull-ups? If we do, the Dodo guy."

OR

"Well, that depends; I'll take the football guy if we get to rest up at the Sheraton the night before."

T: "Why do you bust on cadets? Don't you know we hate you?"

BACK IN MY DAY, WE DIDN'T HAVE PANSY LITTLE RUBBER RIFLES. WE CARRIED 105-mm HOWITZERS IN EVERY FORMATION! WHY, WE RAN ALL THE WAY TO FLATIRON YELLING, "LOOK AT ME! I'M CARRYING A 105-mm HOWITZER! HALLELUJAH!"

IDEA: HOMIE

AND WE DIDN'T WHINE ABOUT NOT HAVING ANY PASSES. WE STAYED HERE 24 HOURS A DAY, 7 DAYS A WEEK, FOR FOUR YEARS! AND WE LIKED IT!

BUT AT LEAST WE GOT UPT. EVERY SINGLE PQ ONE OF US GOT A GLORIOUS PILOT SLOT. WHY DID IT ALL HAVE TO END? WHY, GOD, WHY?

WELL, FOLKS, IT AIN'T WHAT IT USED TO BE. WITH THE UPT CUTBACKS IN EFFECT, FUTURE "WAR STORIES" MAY SOUND SOMETHING LIKE THIS...

"IT WAS TUESDAY NIGHT and THE CADETS WERE FRANTICALLY CHECKING THE NET FOR THEIR GR SCORES.

"I DIDN'T HAVE MUCH TIME TO READ. CONSULTING MY HUD, I QUICKLY DERIVED AN OBSCURE EQUATION WHICH GAVE EVERYONE A 53.2% SCORE.

"NEEDLESS TO SAY, MANY OF THE CADETS WERE UPSET, SO I SLAPPED THOSE SNOTNOSE WHINERS WITH 50/80/4 FOR FAILURE TO PERFORM A DUTY, NAMELY, NOT STUDY THE REQUIRED 8½ HOURS PER NIGHT FOR MY CLASS.

I WAS AWARDED THE BOHICA MEDAL. OPERATION 'DESK STORM' WAS A SUCCESS!

Well, now that we got back the results on the survey on the amount of prejudice and ill will here at the Academy, I'm sure the question on everyone's mind is "Exactly what is the White Male Reaction Factor".

I've been white and male most of my life now and I'm shocked to find that I am responsible for throwing off surveys. I just hope that my white maleness did not mess up the presidential election too.

While those over us are trying to determine the state of partiality and bigotry in the Cadet wing, they may have actually added to the problem. I think there may be an increase in belligerence against white males. First we're blamed for throwing off surveys - what's next?

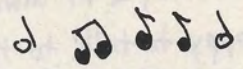

Maybe we could set up support groups. I can see it now, someone will walk to the front of F1 and say something like "My name is Joe Smith. I'm white and... ..I'm a male. Maybe we could set up a 12 step program to help such people.

Then again, maybe DF was just looking for a way to dismiss results which they didn't like.

DODO TAILS

The Drum and Bugle Corps. The Flight of Sound. The Ambassadors of Precision Drill.

Whatever.

Any team that prides itself in taking second place in a two-team competition (with a 78%) has got to be either far too optimistic or smoking something that had no tax stamp on it.

Explain to me the high incidence of weakness in this Corps. I mean, after twirling those 4-oz. plastic rifles all afternoon, I figure those smacks would be really buff. Plus, they have sabers, and look how burly the saber drill team is.

At least they got rid of the Flag [redacted].

And besides, they have their own strenuous version of Recondo, run by an elite task force of highly-qualified trombonists. Now tell me that's not a perfect example of the Blind leading the Useless.

Does the Commandant realize that they use his name when they present themselves? Wouldn't that be an insult to most fighter jocks? Especially the ones who played football when they were here? Maybe he feels that the modified clasp-necked Parade Dress is flattering. It complements the white skirts, in a rugged, military way.

Next year they ride onto the field in light blue HUMMV's. Honest.

And just how come they can't play at every marching formation? Do the drums get too heavy? Or is it really difficult to coordinate that precision stick-clicking thing they started this year? I figure that Disco Soldier garbage tune would go over real well with tourists the world over. Schmucks.....

Now tell me, why does it take them two days more than the football team to get back from away games? Do tubas fly Space-A? Do they need Blew Rest for 37 hours before performing again? Really, I'm confused.

And this beret thing. If your parade cap gets in the way of the piccolo guy next to you, just wear a flight cap. You look like Fairy SPS.

Do they actually admit that the letter on their A-Jacket is for Flute Team? Do girls go for that, or what? I admit, it really is macho to wheel around that xylophone, but try not to dis the rest of us who can't make the claim to fame you can. Besides, you get all those bonus Cool Points for the glossy blue satin team jackets you get; you know the ones with your first name printed above your heart, so you can brag that you are on the Academy Ballet Squad.

I guarantee that when they broke out the bagpipes to rally the men on the beach at Dunkirk while the Messerschmits strafed them to bloody British chunks, they never, ever, ever, played Aretha Franklin's "Respect" in 4/4 time with cymbals for backup. Belushi rolls in his grave every time you desecrate it with your pansy cover of his untouchable performance.

Maybe I'm just jealous I'm not a Recruited Zither Player. Then I'd get to eat RZMPS. Maybe not.

[redacted] and Travel. Beat and Blow. The Fright of Sound. Esprit de Corps for the Doublemint twins. Do they deserve these monickers?

You bet your ascot they do.
